

TARTARS SMACK DOWN STOUT LEUZINGER OLYMPICS FRIDAY

Three Touchdowns, Two Conversions, Give Torrance Team Safe Lead; Hayward, Fullback, Makes Lone Score For Hawthorne; Tartars Rest This Week

Torrance Tartars will take a lay-off this week, after polishing off three of the five teams in the Marine League. Friday's victory over the stout Leuzinger team, 20-6, put them indisputably at the top of the percentage column, a position they hope to maintain November 2 when they meet Ben Comrada's Narbonne Gauchos in the final game of the league season.

While Leuzinger disputed the ball every inch of the way until the final gun, they were no match for the smooth-running Tartar outfit which made consistent gains every time the ball was in their possession and elicited over three touchdowns and two conversions.

The game was marred by a number of fumbles due to the slippery condition of the ball. Leuzinger's field had not dried out after the heavy rains of the preceding days and several long runs were cut short when the Torrance ball pinner slipped in the mud and fell sprawling.

Hayward, Leuzinger fullback, was the mainstay of his team. He was in every play and accounted for their only touchdown in the final moments of the last quarter. Arico, speedy quarterback, found himself smothered under the Tartar defense and failed to make any spectacular gains.

Adzovich, McFadden and Wertz did the scoring for Torrance. Watson kicked one goal and looked good on this feature of the game, although his punting in the game was still a little bit on the off side, short and low. Adzovich added the other point.

Coach Donahue made numerous substitutions after the Tartars had the game won, 13-0, in the third quarter, and every man sent in clicked perfectly. Given a dry, fast field, the score could easily have been twice 20, but the wet, slippery sod hampered both teams.

The Tartars functioned like a machine all the time. Straight football was the rule of the afternoon, with little passing attempted. Torrance's one pass in the third quarter was incomplete, the ball from Watson to Paxman was high and slipped out of Paxman's hands. A sure touchdown from this play would have resulted as Pax was waiting a yard from the goal.

A 15-yard penalty on Torrance put the ball back nearly to the center of the field, but the Tartars marched up to the goal line and on first down had six inches to go for the touchdown.

On the strength of their showing in the three games, the Narbonne game, November 2, a prime favorite to take the title for the first time since the organization of the Marine League, now divided into the Marine and Pacific Leagues. Winner of the Marine championship will meet the winner of the Pacific at the conclusion of the regular schedule. South Gate, which has won three and lost no games this season, looks to be the Tartar opponent.

The Narbonne game, however, will be no set-up. Willy Ben, rade can always be depended upon to pull the white rabbit out of the hat at some unexpected moment, and the Gauchos-Tartar game may prove to be one of those phenomenal upsets which have been chronicled in football history this season. The Gauchos look upon their coach as the man who invented football, and will fight to the last ditch for Ben and dear old Narbonne.

Anderle and Ashton Top Revolver Shots

Fred Anderle and Traffic Officer Ernest Ashton lead the group of revolver marksmen at the Columbia Steel range last Saturday with the other contestants setting up good scores. Scores are made on both slow and rapid fire. In the latter, 10 seconds are allowed for aiming and getting away five shots at the target.

Scores were made as follows: Anderle, 210; Ashton, 210; Eckersley, 208; DeBra, 185; Tiffany, 146; Husband, 138.

PHYSICAL TRAINING

Adults who are interested in physical training are requested to enroll at the Recreation building, 1316 Cabrillo avenue. If a sufficient number turn out a class will be formed to become a regular feature on Tuesday evening. Information can be obtained from Mr. McNew, in charge of the playground work.

No Vandalism After Tartar Gaucho Game

School authorities on both sides of the mythical fence which divides Torrance from Lomita, have long dreaded the situation which confronts the two institutions this season, with Torrance for the first time in years a logical threat against the supremacy of the Gauchos. This supremacy in the Marine League, the Gauchos have always been a fast, smart well organized and exceptionally well coached team. They have demonstrated their ability time after time.

This year the Gauchos are for the first time in the position of the under dog. The Tartars are riding the wave. Every season the Tartar and their loyal schoolmates have nursed the hope of defeating the Gauchos, only to be turned back to wait for another year. Every year they have talked about what they would do to Lomita if they should win. Lomita is riding the wave. Every season the Tartar and their loyal schoolmates have nursed the hope of defeating the Gauchos, only to be turned back to wait for another year. Every year they have talked about what they would do to Lomita if they should win. Lomita is riding the wave. Every season the Tartar and their loyal schoolmates have nursed the hope of defeating the Gauchos, only to be turned back to wait for another year. Every year they have talked about what they would do to Lomita if they should win. Lomita is riding the wave.

This year, the probability is that the Tartars will achieve their hearts' desire. On November 2, the Tartar squad will in all probability be victorious. And this is their chance to show what football really means. Not only is it their chance but it is the chance of every member of the student body, whether football players or rooters.

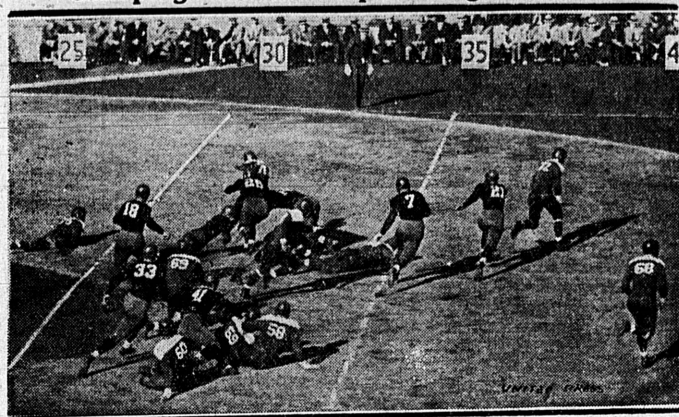

This is their chance to show that football is a fair play, sportsmanship and modesty in victory as well as courage under defeat. To carry that spirit of fair play, sportsmanship and modesty beyond the football field and demonstrate to the world that they are the wearers of the Blue and White should refrain from rubbing it in after the game. There must be no wild invasion of Lomita, no vandalism at the Narbonne high school. No member of the Torrance student body should stoop to lend the commission of acts which will bring upon them the scorn of the public and the hatred and antagonism of a rival school.

Lomita has never committed any breaches of the peace at Torrance after a hard-fought game. Competition and social knowledge of the fitness of things should warn the Torrance contingent that they can be no less considerate. Constant friction between schools over athletic events has resulted in other leagues of the severance of all athletic relations. Torrance and Lomita are too closely allied to permit such a thing to happen because of ill-directed enthusiasm. If any vandalism is committed, or any breaches of the peace are noted, let it not be said that the Torrance high school student body is guilty.

And this goes for the Torrance alumni and the general football public also. There are always some who can make a game their excuse to work off some private grudges, but happily they are few. Puppy Size of Cigaret Box EATONTOWN, N. J. (U.P.)—A two and a half ounce puppy, no larger than a package of cigarettes, was born recently to a Spitz dog owned by Mrs. Robert Aumach, here. The pup was a litter of two. The other was of normal size, but died at birth. The tiny animal is fed with an eye-dropper and veterinarians expect it to live.

Trojans Leave Tonight For Annual Battle With Stanford

LOS ANGELES.—Still carrying the hopes of thousands of Southland fans despite their setbacks of the past three weeks, the Trojans of University of Southern California will entrain tonight for Palo Alto where on Saturday they will resume their long-standing rivalry with Stanford's Indians.

Approximately 40 men are slated to make the trip. They will spend the day before the game at the secluded Castlewood Country Club, which is located 25 miles inland from Palo Alto, and a final light warmup on the club course Friday afternoon will complete their preparations for the battle.

Despite defeats by Washington State and Pittsburgh and the 4-0 tie with Oregon State here Saturday, neither Trojan player nor Trojan fans are downhearted. Advance dope has it that Saturday's game will have Stanford's strongest team in history pitted against what so far has appeared to be one of S. C.'s weakest. Eleven of recent years, but in spite of the overwhelming odds against Troy, Southland followers believe that the local boys can make it a battle.

Improvement in Trojan play has been noted during the past week and the weakness in the fundamentals of blocking, charging and tackling is being gradually overcome, as the result of the steady drill on these phases of the game by Coach Howard Jones and his assistants. Just what changes, if any, are being made in the S. C. style of play for the Stanford game will not be revealed until the battle begins Saturday, as the gates of Bovard field, Troy's practice grounds, are being kept tightly locked during this week's workouts.

Southern California-Stanford football rivalry, which dates back to 1905, has produced some of the game's greatest thrills. The Trojans have a decided edge in the won and lost column, although Stanford, with three victories and a tie out of the nine games played during the Jones regime at Troy has the best record of any Pacific Coast Conference institution against S. C.'s "Head Man." Since the Trojans and Indians began their gridiron feud 29 years ago, they have played 15 games, with Southern California victorious in ten, Stanford in four and one tie.

Here are the scores in past Southern California-Stanford competition: 1905—Stanford, 17-0. 1918—S. C., 25-8. 1919—S. C., 13-0. 1920—S. C., 10-0. 1922—S. C., 6-0. 1923—S. C., 14-7. 1925—Stanford, 13-9. 1926—Stanford, 13-12. 1927—Tie, 13-13. 1928—S. C., 10-0. 1929—S. C., 7-0. 1930—S. C., 11-12. 1931—S. C., 19-0. 1932—S. C., 13-0. 1933—Stanford, 13-7.

Boy Shot on Nutting Jaunt TOLEDO (U.P.)—The hickory nutting jaunt of four little boys ended in near tragedy when one of them was shot in the head with a rifle bullet. The boy, Donald Waller, seven, was taken to a hospital unconscious and remained in serious condition. The accident occurred when the boys were shooting at a target on a farm. They were released after questioning.

Angelich Runs Eighty Yards For Touchdown

Lomita Galloping End Takes Ball Over From Kick-off; Oilers Stopped

Slomer Angelich, left end for Narbonne, took the ball on the opening kick-off in the Gauchos-El Segundo game last Friday and ran 80 yards for a touchdown, which so flabbergasted the Oilers that they never recovered. The Gauchos ran up a score of 27 points, making two touchdowns and two conversions in the first quarter, one in the second and added a touchdown in the third but missed the extra point on the last play. Could scored twice for Narbonne, Cheek filled in with the fourth and last.

Bannon scored for El Segundo on a pass from Bennis. The Gauchos meet Leuzinger next Friday (tomorrow) on their home grounds, Griffin Field.

Lamoreaux to Return Tuesday Motospeedway

A gala Halloween program of festivities will be on next Tuesday night at Motospeedway with specialties and novel races intermixed with the spine tickling program of short track motorcycle thrills.

Runners along racing row are that "Lammy" Lamoreaux, the spectacular "Flying Frenchman," will return to Motospeedway to resume his hot battles against such speed jockeys as Cordy and Jack Milne, Minny Wain, Kenny Schofield, Bo Lisman and Earl Farfield.

According to information from the east, several motorcycle champions of that vicinity will be in Southern California to finish the season here. The night speedway season will be concluded in the east within a few days.

Sixty-two riders participate in the Halloween program at Motospeedway with racing slated to begin at 8:15 p. m.

Three "Marvel" Cars Battle In Main Event Fri.

The three "marvel cars" of the night speedways battle Friday night in the 80-lap main event, windup of the 110 laps of midget automobile racing meet at Motospeedway on Long Beach, boulevard.

"Shorty" Scovell, driver of the "super outboard," is picked as the early favorite to beat the two Millers in Friday night's main event, although Scovell has his work cut out for him.

Curly Mills, driver of the "mighty midget," will be on the scene of action as will Bob Swan, who sits in the cockpit of the No. 8 Miller, the car that first broke into fame at Motospeedway two weeks ago.

Also to be considered in the main race are "Madman" Chet Mortemore, Everett Balmer, Don Welsh, Chris Vest, Pat Warren, Arvol Brummer and Johnny Keim.

Due to the postponing of last week's races on account of the flooded track, the drivers and car owners took advantage of the lay-off to further "hop up" their cars, and all are in tip top mechanical shape. Racing Friday night begins promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

The sports editor dropped to second place in the Herald race for championship honors in picking football winners last week, because of her determination to string along with Fordham, Oregon State and U.C.L.A. Barring the U.S.C.-Oregon State tie, the other three contestants had a perfect score, Murphy picking the Gonzaga finish on the nose. Score for the week: Hinds, minus 33; Murphy, minus 19; Fraser, 2; Lewellen, 14; Murphy, 197.

SPORT SHOTS

By Bob Lawellen

Torrance people should sing songs of praise for Coach Bernie Donahue. Donahue graduated from Loyola after playing four years of football—three years on the line at tackle and his last year at halfback and was also the captain of the Loyola Lions team. After graduating he then took over the coaching of Loyola high school, turning out a championship team in 1930. Bernie then was transferred to Torrance high in 1932. His record speaks for itself since then, turning out a championship track team and a world's record miler in 1933. Torrance also won the Marine League championship in golf, tennis and played off for the cup with Gardena in baseball but lost, after a hard fought battle. This year looks like another year of athletic glory, the football championship is in the bag, and the track team should be better than last year's team. Bernie deserves a great deal of credit, he not only teaches the boys to win games but teaches them to be men and sports. Here is an example of Donahue's psychology: After being slugged and kicked by the Gardena football players in the first half, Donahue told his men that if he ever saw any player of his slugging in the line or during a game they would have to turn in their suits and never play for him again, but he also told the boys to go back in the game and play hard clean ball and that would get as good results as slugging. Those who saw the last half of the game will remember that it did get results. The people of Torrance should get behind Donahue and give him all the support in the world, he will do the rest.

The writer of this column is going to take the liberty to pick who he thinks are the two outstanding players of the 1934 edition of the Torrance Tartars, and the only real football team that Torrance has ever presented to the public. My selections are: Roger McGinnis, 200 pound tackle is the outstanding line-man and Jack Javens, 150 pound right halfback is by far the shining light in the backfield. McGinnis is playing his last year for Torrance and is doing a real job of it. In the last four games, no one has been able to take this boy out of the play, but he has been opening large holes to let his own backfield scamper through the line. McGinnis should get a scholarship to some of the colleges on the Pacific Coast. Now for Javens. Jack has another year to play and will be one of the few lettermen to return next year. Javens plays a real brand of ball, a brand that any coach would be proud to have on his team, his blocking and tackling is outstanding and when he carries the ball it is usually for a gain. Javens is considered one of the best pass receivers in southland prep football.

If the following Torrance men are not on the All-Marine league team this year there is something wrong—Roger McGinnis, tackle; Chuck Smith, guard; Jim Grubbs, center; Ted Azovich, fullback and Jack Javens, halfback. Several other members of the team should be considered when the officials of the league meet to pick the mythical team. They are—Johnny McFadden, end; Gar Johnson, end; Hal Smith, quarterback and Harold Watson, halfback. The staff by crying about the members of the football team going Hollywood and being pampered by movie queens. Some of the local football players worked as extras in the picture that is being "shot" at one of the local mills this week. The only difference now, between U.S.C.'s team and Torrance, is that the Tartars of Torrance are winning games.

The so called "Master Minds," of the Torrance Herald are picking them right along with the experts of the Pacific Coast. Larry Hinds, linotype operator, took the lead away from Lute Fraser, sports editor, this week and probably will hold the front spot when the season is over. Hinds and Fraser are so far ahead of Murphy and Lewellen that they never will catch up unless the leaders have several weeks of lapsed memory. Murphy and Lewellen have a good excuse for being so far behind, because of the fact that they are

Ample Seating Arrangements Made For Big Narbonne-Tartar Classic

By ARTHUR G. WAIDELICH, Principal

The student council has asked the privilege of extending a cordial invitation to the Alumni Association of Torrance high school for all alumni to be present for a big home coming on the afternoon of November 2nd when Torrance meets Narbonne. The Torrance football team this year has great hopes of defeating our neighboring school for the first time in our football history. Narbonne is always a challenge and until recently defeated by Gardena, had 16 consecutive victories to its credit. The spirit of clean rivalry which has grown up in the last few years between the various teams of the two schools and the spirit of good sportsmanship in evidence during each of the recent games has been something that both schools may well be proud of.

Ben Comrada is recognized throughout the Los Angeles school district as one of the leading football coaches and his record with his teams gives ample proof of the correctness of this opinion. For the past two years, Torrance has had the unusually fine leadership of an equally competent coach, Bernard Donahue is interested in running football and other athletic events, and he is also interested in developing a spirit of good sportsmanship and fair play among his students. He has the individual welfare of each student at heart and his success in bringing the Torrance football team from obscurity to its present position at the head of the Marine League gives him recognition which he rightfully deserves.

The game on November 2nd may easily go to either team. It will be a classic in local high school football history. Special seating arrangements are being made by adding portable bleachers for the

Unknown Friend Presents Team With Silver Cup

Merchants Lace Jadrans and "Lefty" Mills For 12-0 Stinger

Manager Tommy Bowker's San Pedro Merchants simply can't be headed off it seems, but go right on winning ball games Sunday after Sunday. Last time out, on October 21, they defeated the Jadrans, 12-0. For the San Pedro Merchants, in spite of the fact that the great "Lefty" Mills who tried out with the St. Louis Browns and was farmed out by them to the San Antonio team of the Texas League last season, was on the mound for the Jadrans.

Joe Storti pitched for the locals, and held the opposing side to five hits and a shut-out. The Merchants slammed Mills for 12 safeties, and in the fourth inning poured it on him for five runs, which gave them a lead that any team can coast on.

As an appreciation of what the San Pedro Merchants have done this season, some unknown friend presented them with a handsome silver trophy. The presentation was made to Manager Tommy after the game Sunday, and Bowker is now sleuthing around to find out who the generous soul may be so that all hands can send him a letter of thanks.

Next Sunday the Merchants will play an all-star team at Trona Field. The roster has not yet been picked, but will include some real talent.
